

I'm writing you to inform you about the work taking place in Nicaragua. I have been involved in this ministry for over six years and God is doing a great work.

The pastors and church leaders there are hungry, but in need. They have access to very few Christian resources. Being a pastor who uses a lot of resources each week, that made a huge impact on me.

What we do for the week is provide resources and training to aid these local pastors as they prepare to preach the Word of God in their churches and share the Gospel to non-Christians in their communities.

One of many great things about the trip is that pastors from the area gather and meet at a central location. Twice a year we provide resources and training for 120-150 pastors. Each trip, as I look out over the crowd, I am reminded of how many churches are impacted due to the Bible Institute.

It's truly an awesome work. I urge you to prayerfully consider taking part in this ministry.

Blessings,
